

Identity – Leaders Notes

This should be a fun and interesting session, less teaching is required, so expect a lot more talking from the group.

Our identity, who we really are, is something intrinsically fundamental to life. Even people who are non-spiritual see this as an essential journey for us all to embark on.

The intent of this session is not to complete this journey, but rather to give some godly guidance and key tools.

You may have a great variation in how mature men are in this pursuit in your connect group. Consider letting the men pair off for the discussion starters, perhaps more mature guys with less mature ones.
